IN MEMORY OF RABBI LEONARD A. HELMAN, November 30, 1926 – June 6, 2013

A Historical Perspective

Eulogy given by Elliot J. Rapoport, PhD at the funeral for Rabbi Helman, held at Cathedral Basilica of St. Francis of Assisi on Monday, June 10, 2013

Greatness is almost always diminished by confining it to the spoken word.

There is no way to accurately or adequately characterize Rabbi Helman's abiding concern for all people, or the impact that he had upon those fortunate enough to have known him.

Leonard Alfred Helman was born on November 30, 1926 in Hartford, Connecticut. When Rabbi Helman was twelve years old, just prior to his Bar Mitzvah, his father passed away and while his mother heroically provided for him and his sister Lila, Rabbi Helman grew up in comparative poverty, an experience whose lessons he never forgot.

Blessed with a towering intellect, Rabbi Helman was an outstanding student. In 1948 he graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Trinity College. In 1955 he graduated with honors from Hebrew Union College where he was ordained as a Rabbi. He earned a law degree from Duquesne University in 1970 and in 1980 was conferred an Honorary Doctor of Divinity from Hebrew Union College in New York City.

But academia was not the only place where Rabbi Helman excelled. Beginning after his ordination and spanning some 58 years, Rabbi Helman was a pulpit Rabbi caring for and blessing congregations in California, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Alabama, and beginning in 1974, in Santa Fe New Mexico. In every community he served, Rabbi Helman found ways to make things better. He was devoted to many diverse causes including

Bio-Medical ethics, homelessness, cultural diversity, religious ecumenisms, and the plight

Fourth of July Tribute to Rabbi Leonard Helman

For many years, Rabbi Helman was a fixture at the Fourth of July Pancakes on the Plaza event to celebrate Independence Day, where he distributed American flags and led the crowd in patriotic songs. The organizers of this year's event have decided to honor Rabbi with a special musical tribute at the Bandstand. In keeping with Rabbi's tradition, American flags will be distributed to the audience. The tribute will begin at approximately 9:30 am, but arrive by 8:00 am for a seat.

As our congregation said tzaitchem b'shalom, may you travel in peace, to our beloved Rabbi Helman, we experienced the sadness of letting go of an emblematic spiritual leader. I want to express my gratitude to everyone who comforted the Rabbi in his final weeks. Although his strength was diminished, his spirit remained receptive and loving. All of us fulfilled the mitzvah of bikur cholim, caring for the sick, and we offered kavod l'rav, honor that befits a teacher, in his concluding journey. Rabbi Helman's inspiration, humor, insight and intellectual acuity will uplift us in the months and years to come.

I want to include excerpts from my eulogy for our Rabbi, as we said goodbye to him on June 10th:

The Talmud relates that when the famous teacher Rav settled in a new community, it was said Rav bika matza vegadar ba gader, "he found a dry city and proceeded to build a strong fence around it." Santa Fe was a much smaller community when Rabbi Helman arrived some forty years ago. He found here a dedicated group of Jewish souls who wished to maintain their Jewish identity and educate their children. Never one to refuse a challenge, he threw himself into his task with tenacity and tremendous willpower. Thus he succeeded in building a spiritual fence around his people. Blessed with brilliance and perspicacity, Rabbi Helman realized there would be no future without knowledge. He labored to build the foundations of an educational structure that would nurture all ages. Many in this sanctuary watched as he honored your children with B'nai Mitzvah and Confirmation services. And he welcomed Jews of all backgrounds into his congregation.

Love for his fellow human beings was no matter of lip service to our Rabbi. With his deep sense of compassion, Rabbi Helman personally visited thousands of folks in the hospital and fulfilled the mitzvah of bachnasat orchim, welcoming the strangers, as well as supporting the hungry and the needy. The quality of mercy came naturally to him, as he understand the notion of mercy as it affected all children, from families of a multitude of backgrounds. His heart was big; his spirit reflected his Hebrew name, Aharon Leib, Aaron the "heart." For Rabbi Helman always opened his heart to us.

In the book of Chronicles we read: "Our days on the earth are as a shadow." The Midrash asks, what kind of shadow do we cast in our lifetime? There are many shadows we experience—the shadow of a bird in flight, whose shadow is fleeting and then quickly disappears.

Such a shadow is beauty lost. There is the shadow of a wall—in the morning the wall casts a long shadow, but as the sun rises, the shadow diminishes, until noon, when the shadow disappears. There are lives like that; a sharp intensity affects us for a while, but the impact of that soul passes from us. The Midrash reminds us of the third shadow, the shadow of a tree. As the tree grows, the boughs spread and the leaves multiply, and the shadow it casts is a wide arc. At all times of the day, that shadow offers an arc of respite and renewal to all who live under it. Rabbi Helman's life exemplified that magnificent tree, that tree of life. His humanity and soul reflected his own eitz chaim, a tree of life, that gave all of us sustenance. His branches of compassion, friendship, love and learning will shelter us for decades. We are grateful to the Almighty for having shared his soul with us.

May his name be blessed forever.

B'shalom,

Martin W. Levy

Rabbi Helman: A Historical Perspective

of the Falashim Jews of Ethiopia, personally traveling to that country in 1984 in order to see to the delivery of desperately needed medical supplies and clothing and assisting with their emigration to Israel.

A man of extraordinary depth and complexity, Rabbi Helman was, quite literally, a world renowned Bridge player, holding the coveted title of Gold Life Master as well as being both the author, and subject of innumerable articles on Contract Bridge.

A man who actually sent Mel Brooks a mezuzah after meeting him at a wedding, Rabbi Helman had a legendary sense of humor, and I suspect that each of you here this morning has at least one good Rabbi Helman story. Here is one of my favorites, told to me by Amy Stein, the renown Santa Fe artist. Amy decided to attend Christmas Eve midnight mass at the Cathedral and was stunned to find Rabbi Helman in attendance. "What are you doing here" she asked. Rabbi Helman responded, "You know, you can never be too sure."

While he had much to be proud of, Rabbi Helman particularly enjoyed his service as Chaplain to the New Mexico State Legislature where he saw to it that prayers were offered by clergy of all faiths and denominations. One of his most proud possessions was an embroidered State of New Mexico jacket presented to him by the State legislature commemorating his years of faithful Chaplaincy.

In 1974, Santa Fe and its Jewish community were blessed by Rabbi Helman's decision to assume the pulpit of Temple Beth Shalom, which in 1974 consisted of perhaps 60 families and a small twenty two year old building on Barcelona Street. Under his leadership from 1974 until 1991 the congregation grew to almost 400 families and a beautiful new sanctuary, classrooms and offices were built on the Barcelona Street property. While serving the Jewish community as its Rabbi, Rabbi Helman was also serving the entire state by holding the position of Administrative Law Judge for the New Mexico Public Service Commission where he distinguished himself, and earned a reputation for fairness and the highest of ethical standards.

In 1991 Rabbi Helman tried his hand at retirement, serving small congregations on a part- time basis in Pennsylvania and later in Alabama, but his love of Santa Fe never diminished with time and so in 1995 he ended his exile and returned to his beloved city to assume the pulpit of Congregation Beit Tikva. His contract was simple "Rabbi for Life" a contract we have been proud to honor. Under his leadership our congregation has grown from 20 families to over 150 families and Rabbi Helman's name is inscribed on a bronze plaque on the wall of the lovely new synagogue on Old Pecos Trail, which we dedicated in 2005.

The Rabbi Different for the City Different could be found tap dancing to Doug Montgomery at Vanniesies, singing Broadway show tunes with John Gooch at the Eldorado, dancing to the music at the La Fonda, walking his enormous Boviers, Bear then Sarah on the Plaza; or arguing with New Mexico State Supreme Court Justices over some decision or arcane point of law. He was a genuine original, unique and inclusive and with an extraordinary talent to make people feel good about being Jewish or in the alternative make them feel good about just being themselves. He was at the same time highly accomplished and yet insecure and humble. We shall not see his kind again.

I should like to conclude my comments by reading the inscription written on his Honorary Doctor of Divinity Diploma, it reads:

"Leonard Alfred Helman faithful Rabbi and Attorney whose devotion to Judaism sustains congregants in communities distant from the mainstream of Jewish life; who has applied his knowledge of the Law to the public weal; and who as a teacher of Theology, has helped others to understand the meaning of Judaism."

Congregation Beit Tikva and Hadassah's Teddy Bear Project, which collected stuffed animals for victims of child abuse in Santa Fe, was a great success. Approximately 115 stuffed animals and 18 writing journals were delivered to the Solace Treatment Center (formerly the Santa Fe Rape Crisis Center) on April 16th. The Center interviews, evaluates and treats approximately 20 children between the ages of 3 and 17 every month. The Santa Fe New Mexican helped to publicize the project to the wider community. Congregation Beit Tikva is thankful for all the kind teddy bear donations to this worthwhile project.
